The recent CrowdStrike outage is expected to trigger a wave of claims from businesses and institutions seeking to recover their losses from suppliers and insurers. As companies brace for this challenge, understanding the landscape of potential disputes is crucial.

Join us as we examine the dispute environment, exploring arising issues and offering solutions for resolving CrowdStrike-related disputes efficiently and commercially.

Hear from industry experts from tech, legal, and insurance sectors as they delve into:

- Tech landscape – including what happened, impact on tech supplier ecosystems (software, resellers, cloud, outsourcers) and lessons learnt;

- Legal landscape – including claim and recovery options, liability and quantification of loss issues and force majeure, for affected businesses and their customers and other dependants;

- Insurance landscape - including policy coverage and response (business interruption, cyber security), exclusions, and subrogation;

- Solutions – innovative ways of resolving CrowdStrike disputes at an early stage.
